

© Marc Dando

BENTFIN DEVIL RAY

The Bentfin Devil Ray is primarily recognised for the double curvature on its pectoral fins and graceful swimming patterns, captivating observers with its unique appearance.

SCIENTIFIC NAME: Mobula thurstoni

DIET: Highly specialised: mainly krill and other types of shrimp-like crustaceans.

DISTRIBUTION: Circumglobal in warm seas.

MAXIMUM SIZE: 1.8 m

HABITAT: Pelagic, mainly in coastal waters, no deeper than 100 m.

DISTRIBUTION MAP:

CONSERVATION STATUS:

Endangered