

© Andrew Sallmon

SCALLOPED HAMMERHEAD

The Scalloped Hammerhead Shark is characterised by its hammer-shaped head with prominent scalloped edges. It is known for its schooling behavior and wide distribution in warm coastal and pelagic waters.

DISTRIBUTION: Worldwide, in warm-temperate to tropical waters.

MAXIMUM SIZE: 4.3 m

SCIENTIFIC NAME: Sphyrna lewini

HABITAT: Over continental and insular shelves and adjacent deep water. May dive down to deeper than 1043 m.

DIET: Bony fishes, sharks, rays and invertebrates.

DISTRIBUTION MAP:

CONSERVATION STATUS:

Critically Endangered